

LAB EXAM — PART 1

Customer Segmentation & Communication Strategy

From RFM scoring and K-Means clustering to a data-driven premium retention campaign

STUDENT

Marta Paniconi · ID 535358

COURSE

AI for Communication and Marketing

PROGRAM

B.Sc. in Artificial Intelligence — A.Y. 2025/2026

Key Findings — Who are our customers?

SLIDE 2 / 3

2,237

CUSTOMERS AFTER CLEANING

29%

OF CUSTOMERS = 58% OF REVENUE

4

K-MEANS PERSONAS (K CHOSEN VIA ELBOW + SILHOUETTE)

RFM Segments — revenue concentration

SEGMENT	CUST. %	REVENUE %	RESPONSE %
Loyal Big Spenders	17.6	35.8	17.0
Champions	11.5	22.5	28.4
Regular Customers	32.2	25.8	14.0
Promising Recent	20.3	4.1	13.7
High Value At Risk	4.8	10.3	12.1
Hibernating Low Value	13.7	1.4	6.5

Champions + Loyal Big Spenders are the Pareto core of the business.

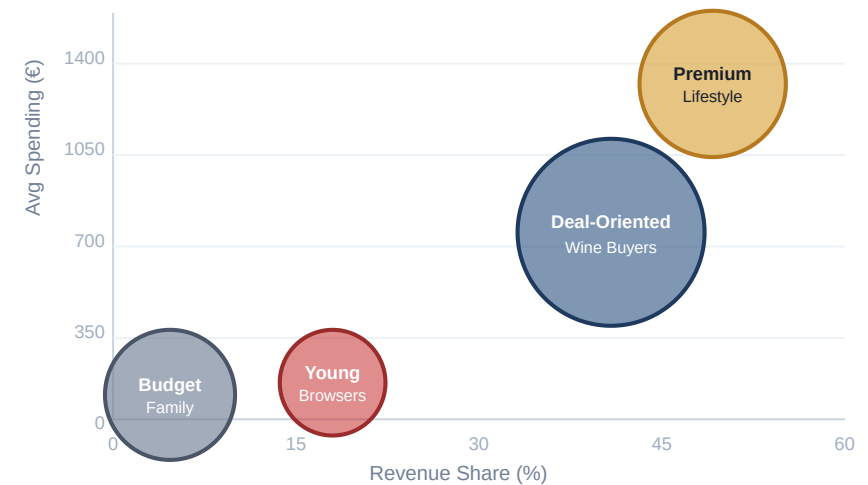

TOP EDA DRIVERS OF SPENDING

Income corr. with Total Spending = +0.79

Has-children corr. with Total Spending = -0.52

Customers without children spend €1,105 vs €407 (with children) and respond at 26.5% vs 10.3%

K-Means Clusters — avg spending vs revenue share

Bubble size = customer share. Premium Lifestyle Buyers (23.8% of customers) generate 51.6% of revenue.

STRATEGIC LOGIC

RFM tells us who to prioritize (commercial value); K-Means tells us how to talk to them (lifestyle & channel). The two approaches overlap only partially (ARI = 0.13), so they are complementary.

CHANNEL & TONE BY STRATEGIC TIER

TIER	CHANNEL	STONE
Premium Retention Champions · Loyal · Premium Lifestyle	Personalized email + curated catalog	Exclusive, aspirational
Premium Reactivation High Value At Risk	Direct email, limited offer	Warm, "we miss you"
Growth & Conversion Promising · Deal-Oriented Wine	Newsletter, selective bundles	Practical, value-driven
Digital Nurturing Young Low-Value Browsers	Retargeting, abandoned-cart	Friction-reducing
Low-Cost Maintenance Regular · Budget Family · Hibernating	Automated email, seasonal	Simple, promotional

HIDDEN TREND IDENTIFIED

Premium Lifestyle Segment — customers without children & income above the 75th percentile.

Distinctive product signal: Wines + Meat, not wine alone. Catalog is 6× more relevant for this group (19.9% vs 3.2%).

RECOMMENDED MAIN CAMPAIGN

Premium Lifestyle Retention

Personalized email + catalog-style content. No aggressive discounts — curation, exclusivity, early access. Prioritize previous campaign responders (response: 50.8% vs 17.3%).

"A private selection created for your table — early access to our premium Wine & Meat collection."